BOAT BLOWS UP; THREE MEN DIE, ANOTHER INJURED

Boiler Lets Go
As Sailors Prepare for
Day In N. Y. Harbor

SAVAGE LIGHTER
THEN SINKS IN BAY
Explosion Partly Wrecks
Two Buildings Close to Staten Island Pier

New York, July 31.—Three men were reported killed, and a fourth escaped with serious injuries today
when the steam lighter, Chancellor
No. 1, blew up and sank on the foot of Staten Island.

The vessel's boiler exploded as the crew was getting up steam to work on the salvage of the army steamer, which went down the Narrows several weeks ago
after colliding with another ship.

Two Buildings Wrecked
The Chancellor was owned by the Chapman Scott Corporation.
The explosion partially destroyed
two buildings housing salvage equipment, which stood on either side of Pier 22, where the lighter was at.

The missing men, for whose bodies police are grasping, are:
William Woods, engineer; Joseph McIntire and John Dando, firemen.
Another lighter damaged
The Chapman Scott lighter of the same name, which was suffering from a boiler trouble,
was also damaged by the explosion.

Immediately after the explosion,
the ship's crew and buildings
along the Staten Island shore line, Police Captain John Masterson summoned a fireboat.

HAHN DEFEATED IN 800 METERS; HAMM IS STAR

Douglas Lowe, Briton, Is Winner of Classic In Olympics Today

AMERICAN COMES IN FIFTH, ALL IN

Hamm breaks broad jump
Record In Taking Lead
Over Rest of Field

Olympic Stadium, Amsterdam,
July 31.—Douglas Lowe, the dark browed, handsome Englishman won the classic 800-meter race on the Olympic program this afternoon, the race which all America had been fondly hoping would go to its ace of aces, Lloyd Hahn. In gaining his decision, Lowe repeated his victory of 1924 at Paris.

The defeat of the Americans, particularly Hahn, came as a bitter pill for the Yankee contingent to swallow, especially after the American reverses that came in the 100-meter dash, the hammer throw and 400-meter hurdles yesterday.

The American section of the stands gave Hahn, Earl Fuller and Ray Watson a rousing cheer as they lined up for the start with the remaining nine finalists.

Nosed Out By Edwards
But they cheered in vain. Their idol, Hahn, could do no better than fifth place being beaten a stride by Phil Edwards, the negro representing Canada, as the pair faltered past the finish. The Swede, Byhlen, and the German, Engelhard, also led Hahn into the tape.

Lowe's time, 1:54 4-5, bettered Ted Meredith's Olympic record for the event but did not disturb the nipped Hahn's fraction of an inch, made by Seraphin Martin in the French trials. Martin could do no better than sixth place today.

As for Fuller and Watson, they were well beaten off in the final eighth of a mile and finished seventh and eighth respectively.

Ed Hamm Breaks Record
Ed Hamm, Georgia Tech, established a new Olympic record of 25 feet 4 inches in assuming a lead over the field in the running broad jump this afternoon. Hamm made a new world's record in the event in the official American trials at Cambridge, Mass.

Miss Elizabeth Robinson, of the Illinois Women's A. C., won the final of the 100-meter dash for women.
The American miss was clocked in 12 1-5 seconds.

Leighton Dye then further revived America's dashed hopes, by winning his semi-final heat of the 110-meter hurdles in 14 4-5 seconds, equaling the Olympic record. Gaby, England, was second.

The pole, Miss Knopacka, won the discus event, however, with a heave of 129 feet 11 3-5 inches. Miss Lillian Copeland, the Californian was second with 119 feet 2 inches with Miss Svedberg, of Sweden, third.

Woman Slain With Ice Pick In Room

body of a woman, about 30 years old, lay in the county morgue here today awaiting identification, police were seeking her slayer.

The body was found in a rooming house on the East Side last night and the victim had been stabbed to death with an ice pick, police say.
A man who is said to have been

Republican Propagandists Ready To Prove Hoover Is Better American Than Ever

Washington, July 31.—Republican propagandists who ply their trade both by voice and pen are poised for a brief but active campaign to prove that Herbert Hoover, the Republican presidential nominee, has emerged from his world experiences a better American than ever, should the charge of "foreigner" be hurled at him by the Democrats, it was disclosed here today.

While there appears to be no intention upon the part of Republican national committee heads to precipitate a debate it is asserted that they have prepared themselves to meet a challenge.
A vast fund of information has been drawn upon and compiled by skilled hands, it is understood.

CHRYSLER TAKES OVER DODGE CO.

Properties Acquired And New Combination Is Third Largest

New York, July 31.—The Chrysler corporation has acquired the properties of the Dodge Brothers corporation, it was announced today by Walter P. Chrysler.

The merger makes the Chrysler corporation a $400,000,000 organization and third largest auto manufacturer in the world.

Consummation of the merger was effected two months after first submission of details to the stockholders, the delay being due to the failure of all classes of Dodge stockholders to manifest the 90 per cent approval insisted upon by the Chrysler.

Dodge stockholders met at Baltimore and voted approval of the merger as announcement was made that last minute deposits had brought the total over the required amount.

The enlarged Chrysler corporation has permanent assets of approximately $95,000,000 working capital of $20,000,000; Total resources of $115,000,000; a distributor dealer organization of 12,000; a manufacturing capacity of 700,000 cars and trucks and a gross business of $500,000,000.

Dodge properties give the Chrysler corporation some 18 modern plants. Trade status of Dodge and its cars will remain undisturbed, and all dealers are being notified to that effect by J. E. Fields, vice president in charge of sales of Chrysler.

WHITE RECANTS SOME CHARGES FIRED AT SMITH

Won't Press Gambling,
Prostitution Votes Due
To Fair Play Desire

GIVES AL CREDIT
FOR HONEST STAND

Editor Willing to Place
Entire Issue On Saloon
Votes of Nominee

New York, July 31.—Following the publication this morning of a review of the legislation report of Gov.
Al Smith while he was a member of the New York legislature in which William Allen White, Kansas editor, charged Governor Smith had voted consistently with Tammany to protect the saloon, gambling and vice, White today issued a statement modifying and withdrawing some of his charges.

White's statement is as follows:
"Yesterday talking to Walter Lippmann of The World, a friend of Governor Smith and of mine for many years, I learned that Governor Smith was deeply aggrieved that I should charge him with protecting gambling and prostitution in his assembly record."

Points To "Honest" View
"I can understand after considering what Mr. Lippmann said that the governor in casting those votes against those reform bills might honestly have felt that the bills were unconstitutional or were not enforceable or infringed upon personal liberty or encouraged police blackmail."

"These bills did not so impress others who voted for the bills but Governor Smith certainly is entitled to fair treatment. I always have tried to fight fair. I have never consciously questioned any man's motives and so before I know what, if any, reply Governor Smith has made to my statement I desire to withdraw the charges formally insofar as they affect his votes on gambling and prostitution but not his position as to the saloon."

Says Saloon Main Issue
"On the question of the menace of Tammany and of Governor Smith's Tammany record for the open saloon the whole issue of the campaign is becoming organized."

"Protected prostitution is quickly passing out of American life and that issue is not vital. But vital or not, I could not in good conscience have made to my statement I desire to withdraw the charges formally
insofar as they affect his votes on gambling and prostitution come out of the record."

"I hope now American newspapers and particularly Republican newspapers will give the same consideration to this statement that they gave my statement yesterday."

Ex-Convict Opens Police Safe And Gets Free Meal

Atlantic City, N. J., July 31.—
A shabby wanderer and self-styled "prince of cracksmen" has a good job today because he was able to open a safe in police headquarters here.

An absent-minded policeman had locked the safe after leaving the combination inside.
He was about to drill
open the safe—a long and expensive job—when the shabby stranger volunteered to open it with nothing but a piece of sandpaper if the police would provide him with a reward.

While a group of awed officers watched, the safe was defiled and quickly opened by the ex-convict, who boasted that he once had been "one of the best in the business."

As a reward he got a bed, a good breakfast and cigars,
and a job pushing wheel chairs along the boardwalk.

Utah Banker Takes Life With Revolver

Salt Lake City, Utah, July 31.—
John C. Cutler, 82, second governor of Utah and prominent banker of this city, was dead here today as the result of what police termed a self-inflicted bullet wound in the head.

Despondency over ill health and worries over personal business affairs were said to have prompted the act.

Warehouse Burns

Dayton, July 31.—Valuable records and 2,000 fare registers were destroyed and the warehouse of the Ohmer Fare Register company was in ruins today following a fire which swept the structure late yesterday.
Loss will exceed $40,000. This was the second factory blaze within 24 hours in Dayton.

SAYS CONTENDERS NOT CAPABLE OF ATTRACTING GATE

WIFE AND DEAD
MAN'S BROTHER
ARE INDICTED

Wooster, July 31.—Climaxing the slaying on July 21, of James Gilbert, Akron rubber worker, at his home near Warwick, Mrs. Ruth Gilbert, 32, the slain man's wife, and her brother-in-law, Chancey Felton, 30, were jointly indicted by the Wayne county grand jury here today on first degree murder charges.

The accused pair will be arraigned, probably Friday, to plead to the indictment.

SMITH TO SEEK RASKOB'S VIEW BEFORE ANSWER

Blames White's Attacks
On Rev. Miller, Reform
Chief of New York

Southampton, N. Y., July 31.—
When governor Al Smith winds up his brief vacation on Long Island tomorrow and returns to New York
he is expected to seek the advice of National Chairman John J. Raskob and Senator Peter G. Gerry, chairman of the Democratic advisory committee, as to whether he should answer or ignore the latest attack by William Allen White, Kansas editor.

The governor's present intention is not to pay any attention to White's charge that when he,
Smith, was a young assemblyman
he always voted to protect the saloon and the liquor traffic.

However, if Raskob and some of his other close advisers are of the opinion that he should return White's fire he will do so in the usual Smith manner without mincing words.

Feels Miller Is To Blame
According to close friends of Smith, he feels that Rev. O. R. Miller, of Albany, superintendent of the New York State Civic League, and editor of the "Reform Bulletin,"
is to blame for the White attack.

In Albany recently the governor asserted that "White should have more brains than to take such bunk from Miller." He also characterized Rev. Miller as "an admitted liar," and an "18 karat fakir."

If the governor finally decides to answer White's latest broadside his friends say he will point to the fact that when he was first elected the lower house of the legislature his vote was frequently recorded for and against bills of which he had no personal knowledge.

REPORT CRACKS IN MILTON DAM

Water, However, Lowers
In Basin Due To Lack Of Rain This Week

Reports received today concerning the condition of the dam at Lake Milton state that the dam is in greater danger of breaking than in 1924, when a tornado which struck eastern Ohio caused water in the reservoir to reach a high record
mark and cracked the dam in several places.

At least one large crack in the dam has been reported by visitors at the lake, who state that guards are still being maintained at the lake and a warning gun has been placed at the dam to warn people living in the district which would be effected should a break occur.

The danger of the dam's breaking has been decreased in the last week due to the lack of rainfall and the water is said to be back to normal height. The water is said to have been at the highest mark since 1924 in the last two months, due to the continued rainfall.

NOBILE CROSSES FRONTIER TODAY

Leader and Companions
In Polar Expedition
Are In Homeland

Rome, July 31.—Gen. Umberto Nobile and his fellow survivors of the Italia disaster crossed the Italian frontier into their home land
this morning.

At Verona they were welcomed by Commandant Pieroni in behalf of Rear Admiral Siriani, under minister for marine.

The Italians traveled quietly and there was no demonstration at the frontier.

It is expected that the members of the party will go to their homes until summoned by Premier Mussolini to testify in the inquiry into the ill-fated polar expedition.

A CRIME BREEDER

Since bootlegging has come to be a nation-wide affair in which the lawbreaker is supported morally and to a considerable extent financially by the better class of people, crime has shot upward at an alarming rate. The American Bar association brands the bootlegger as the crime breeder of the age. But what the American Bar association puts into words is nothing the American people have not known for a long time.

Bootlegging has led to murder, hijacking, bribery, highway robbery and countless other crimes. There always were offenses of this character, of course, but never on the tremendous scale apparent in recent years—never on the scale apparent today in Chicago, New York and other metropolitan centers.

And so long as the American public is tolerant as it is today, just that long will the bootlegger continue to thrive on his spoils. It will take a vigilant and informed public which will not tolerate corruption in office, the breaking up of gang rule and corruption in politics, to bring about a rigid enforcement of the prohibition law.

Arthur V. Lashly, who investigated conditions for the American Bar association, offers another solution, however. That is repeal or amendment of the prohibition laws, if they cannot be enforced. There seems to be a recurrence of this thought in many sections of the country. But it is a proposal which will be difficult of carrying out. Prohibition is entirely too sensible a thing to be rejected merely because corrupt public officials in some quarters have permitted the bootlegger to spring up like a mushroom.

Honest efforts to enforce the prohibitory laws, upstanding public officials, and an aroused public conscience will do more to run bootleggers into the penitentiary than anything else which has been proposed.

WOMEN ARE INTERESTED

Judging by the news reports of the political forums which have been so recently conducted here by the women of Salem who look upon their enfranchisement as something really worth while, the feminine influence will be felt to a much greater degree at the polls on August 4 and November 4 than ever has been the case in this district.

Women, it seems, have come to the conclusion that the right to vote is something which should be exercised, and so they have gone into the field this year to ascertain what politics is all about. There always have been some women who were keen for politics, and who were active in party councils. But the rank and file of the women have failed to respond as they should. This year, however, indications are this order will be changed.

When women meet candidates for office face to face and engage them in open discussion of policies, platforms, law enforcement and the like they are showing rare good judgment and a desire to get both sides of the question before making up their minds which way to vote. This is as it should be. Voting one party ticket merely because some one else does so, is not sound political judgment.

If the men show half as much interest in the primary and the fall election as the women are showing there ought to be an outpouring of votes in every precinct.

What Others Say

AROUND THE WORLD AGAIN

Over four centuries ago Magellan set a world's record for encircling the globe, the record standing for three centuries and a half at two years and 347 days. In 1872 Jules Verne set the world to laughing sarcastically when he sent his fictitious hero, Phineas Fogg, on a globe-circling trip that required only 80 days. Then 17 years later, Nellie Bly of the New York World showed that Jules Verne was not an idle dreamer after all, for she went around the world in 72 days, six hours and eleven minutes. Recently at breakfast there were millions who glanced idly at headlines proclaiming the fact that two men landed at the Battery, New York city last night after setting a new record for going around the world in 23 days, 15 hours and 8 seconds. After reading this the millions probably turned to look at the weather report and to find out who won yesterday's ball game.

The various records set for going around the world tell a story of human progress. But there is one difference between the record set by Magellan and the record just established by Capt. Charles B. D. Collier and John Henry Mears that is far more entrancing than the mere difference in time. When Magellan completed his cruise, he had done something that had never been done before. There may have been those who thought that it would be done again, but the horizon of their hopes did not extend beyond their visualization of how fast ships, propelled by the wind, might sail. They may have thought that some day there would be faster ships, fewer stops enroute and winds that held true and strong. But that was all. Today the record set by Capt. Collier and Mr. Mears is of passing interest. For those who read of it know that a few years hence it will have become almost as archaic as the record set by Magellan.

First there were sailing ships, then steamships and trains, then steamships, airplanes and motor cars, then steamers and an airplane alone, and tomorrow there will be faster and stronger planes, that stop only for fuel, or dirigible airships that do not have to stop for fuel, scoring help in their race against time of all earthly things. The record has been lowered and the horizon for future records has extended beyond the sight but not the understanding of man.

Two years ago Edward S. Evans and Linton Wells set a new record of 28 days and 14 hours, which now has been lowered by nearly five days. Evans and Wells used steamship, motor car and airplane. Collier and Mears used only steamer and plane. There will doubtless be another record soon, made by plane alone. And that will stand only until it is soon broken by aircraft, aiming not at speed alone, but at speed without a stop—Washington Star.

Navy Officials See Ceremony To Mark Work On Old Boat

Boston, July 31.—Marking the completion of nearly one-half of the work of rebuilding the frigate Constitution, flagship and forty time victor of the early American navy, the stem piece was recently put in place at the navy yard here before a gathering of naval officials and civilians, headed by Rear Admiral Philip Andrews, commandant of the First Naval District and members of his staff.

The navy band played historic selections as the huge timber of live oak, 30 feet long, was hoisted into position. The oak used for the stem piece was obtained from the bottom of Commodore's Pond, Pensacola, Fla., where it has been kept for the past 75 years.

The placing of the stem piece also marked the 118th anniversary of the Constitution's escape from a British squadron off the New Jersey coast in the war of 1812. But for the remarkable seamanship of her commander, Captain Isaac Hull, and his able lieutenant, Charles Morris, the Constitution would on that occasion have fallen prey to the British who swooned down on the frigate with five ships. The wind was against Captain Hull but by a clever process of kedging, he outwitted the slow sailing British men-o-war and brought the Constitution out of danger to the open seas.

At the ceremonies at the navy yard, two little girls, daughters of navy officers, held the commodore's broad command pennant and the 15-star national flag flown by the Constitution in the war of 1812. The girls stood on a huge block of oak more than 500 years old, that is being used in the rebuilding of the frigate. Subscriptions of more than $545,000 by the American public has made possible the reconstruction of the historic frigate. About $240,000 more must still be raised. The money is being obtained by the sale of souvenirs, and pictures on the ship at the Navy Yard.

ACID STOMACH ONE OF COMMON AILMENTS

By Royal S. Copeland, M. D., United States Senator from New York, Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

You regulate your children's diet for them. You forbid them certain foods which you believe would be harmful and you limit the quantities. You may sometimes scold or punish the child for disobedience when the temptation of some forbidden favorite proves too strong for the young conscience.

And then you right about face and do just what you punished the child for doing. It is strange how many grown people are slaves to their appetites.

If people never ate food they believed to be bad for them they would never have indigestion. If they never overate or indulged at the wrong time, we would probably hear very little about acid stomach.

Acid stomach and heartburn are the terms commonly used to describe the condition known as "hyperacidity." This is one of the most common of ailments.

The symptoms are varied. The most common are a feeling of fullness and weight in the abdomen, belching of gas and food after eating, headache and sickness at the stomach.

Persons who are subject to hyperacidity know, or think they know, which foods cause the condition. And yet they go on eating them.

Nervousness is an important factor in producing hyperacidity. The condition is most apt to occur when you are nervously tired, overworked or overexcited. If in this condition you eat hurriedly, carelessly or too much, heartburn is likely to be the result. There could hardly be a better formula for bringing on an attack of heartburn than to bolt a meal of rich foods and then hurry right off in a frenzy of excitement to keep a business or social appointment.

Constipation is nearly always a symptom of hyperacidity. Indeed it is probably one of the causes of it. You cannot hope to cure hyperacidity until the constipation has been relieved.

The first step in correcting the condition is to regulate the diet. Omit rich foods, such as pastries and fried foods, condiments and malt liquors. Limit the amount of green vegetables and stewed fruits.

Overcome the constipation. If regulation of the diet will not do this at once, take a tablespoonful of mineral oil daily, half an hour before breakfast or three hours after the evening meal.

The Stars Say—

For Wednesday, August 1.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE.

THE planetary energies for this day favor great activity and a spirit of adventure into advanced channels or public service and while the efforts may be wisely and diligently directed toward success, it is probable that the financial rewards may become complicated or be deferred. Speculation and extravagant outlay carry a hazard. Also employment should be safeguarded.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of initiative and enterprise, with fine prospects and possibly public adventures, but the finances may need to be husbanded and not risked in speculation or extravagance. The employment is likewise menaced, but labor and diligence should bring rewards. A child born on this day may be industrious and enterprising, with large aims and adventures, but these may be jeopardized by extravagance and the tendency to take long chances.

The energies that reach man from the planets and tend to influence him to blind action when understood become his servants and may be utilized to carry him on to majestic heights. C. C. Zain.

Miss Ellen Glasgow, noted novelist, had come from her Virginia home to sail for Europe, and at the Cosmopolitan club in New York she talked about divorce.

"Selfishness is the cause of divorce," she said. "A beautiful Richmond girl married a young cotton broker—they're divorced now—and one day the poor fellow had to say to her:

"Do you know that your dress-makers' bills and beauty parlor bills eat up three-quarters of my income?"

"My goodness me!" she answered. "What do you do with all the rest of your money?"

What's Become Of All The Homely Women?

WOMEN simply aren't homely any more. You meet plain women, yes—but their smart, trim air is the envy of many who are only beautiful.

In the old days, when a girl gave promise of becoming "hopelessly plain," she was frankly informed of the fact to save her from hurt pride in later years. She remained feumpy and tried to convince herself that she didn't care!

Not today!

Advertising has played a remarkable part in making every woman attractive.

It has taught her to use the beauty and charm that are her heritage, regardless of the shape of her features. Her teeth, her hair, her hands, her complexion, her clothes and even her erect athletic figure have been "brought out" by methods constantly before her in advertising.

The great beauty and style specialists of the country are taking fullest advantage of the opportunities you are taking fullest advantage of the opportunities before you every day, in the advertising columns of this newspaper.

Read the advertisements. They hold secrets of beauty and style that were denied the women of yesterday

Communist Loses Standing When He Buys New Bathtub

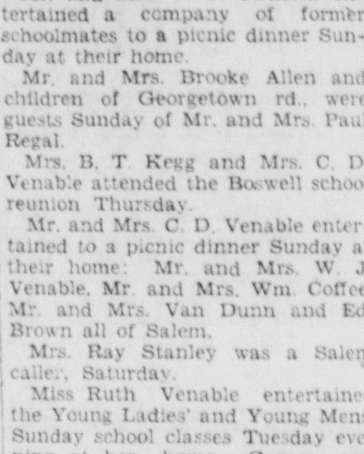

Charkov, Ukraine, July 31.—Can a communist install a bath tub in his apartment and retain his standing as a good proletarian?
The young communist of Charkov evidently believe it is impossible. In their newspaper the "Ukrainian Young Communist" they have carried on a campaign for the removal from office of M. Buzdalin, chairman of the district executive committee because of his alarming bourgeois leanings.
M. Buzdalin recently remodeled his apartment. He spent 320 rubles for a bathtub, and 870 rubles for linoleum for the floors. New paint and wallpaper and other repairs cost him about 2,000 rubles ($1,000).
In their attack the young Communists ask how a good proletarian whose salary is fixed by law at $12 a month, can afford a bath. Where did the money come from? It is frankly intimated that its sources can be traced to graft of embezzlement. Their second argument is that, granted M. Buzdalin came by the money honestly, his spending it on bourgeois comforts ranks him as a dangerous class enemy of the proletariat.

New features in the NEW STUDEBAKERS

... See them now

Ball bearing spring shackles—a new and exclusive Studebaker feature. Greatest improvement in motoring comfort since the balloon tire! Freedom of spring action never before considered possible. No squeaks, rattles and adjustments. Each shackle contains lubricant for upwards of 20,000 miles—a great advance over any other system of chassis lubrication.

Even the brief glimpse of these smart new Studebakers, as they flash past on open road or boulevard, tells its story of rare body artistry and low, fleet lines.

But come in now and examine, at your leisure, the repeated evidence of Studebaker engineering genius, expressed in the luxury, comfort and performance of these splendid motor cars!

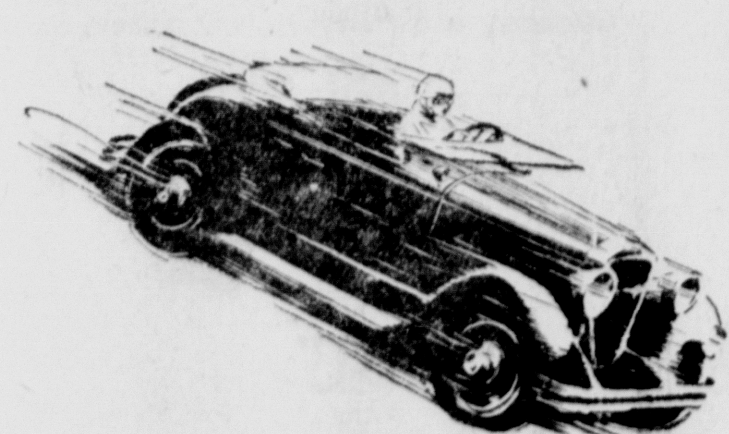

Then drive one. You may have owned a dozen costly cars, but you'll find that in these new Studebakers American inventive genius has surpassed them all. No other car ever built can give you such a wonderful ride.

Only a few of the great Studebaker achievements are pictured here. There are many more. No matter how much or little you plan to invest in your new car, you will want to see them. Come in today!

Dramatic proof of the ease with which these new Studebakers may be driven is offered by the remarkable records recently established by girls driving under official A. A. A. supervision at Atlantic City Speedway. For 500 miles, these girls with only ordinary experience maintained an average speed of 70 miles per hour in The President Sedan, 58 in The Erskine, 60 in The Dictator and 77 in The Commander Roadster.

The smoothness with which this great motor drives the luxurious President sedans at sustained high speeds proves it the finest power plant ever placed in an automobile. ## STRIKERS DEFY BEDFORD POLICE

Textile Mill Pickets Are Jailed But More Take Their Place Today

New Bedford, Mass., July 31.—Again defying the order of city authorities, picketing of the 56 textile mill units here continued today.

While 256 strike pickets and their sympathizers were awaiting court arraignment by yelling and singing in their cells at police headquarters—eight and ten being lodged in a single cell—the picket lines moved back and forward in front of the mill gates.

At the Whitman mill 300 pickets and their sympathizers were out, 100 were at the gates of the Acushnet mill, smaller delegations marched in front of the other mills. Police predicted wholesale arrests late this afternoon.

City authorities ruled that a single individual could go on picket duty at each mill but that more than that constituted a violation of the laws regarding loitering and especially that ordinance regarding parading without a permit.

The strike, called in protest to a 10 per cent wage cut, was in its 16th week and there was talk of arbitration on both sides.

Children of those arrested, some of them roaming the streets crying for their parents, were the pathetic figures among the police clubs and fixed bayonets of national guardsmen as the patrols went up and down the principle streets keeping order following a hectic night.

TUNNEY

I found it. I have tried to be not only champion, but a sportsman.

"Too Long To Wait"

"But the time had come when professional boxing can offer me nothing further than I desire. I am putting it behind me, grateful for benefits conferred, but with the feeling that I am yet young enough to make a new start in other fields."

"There is no contender at the present time who appears capable of attracting real public interest. If there were I might delay my retirement long enough to face him in the ring, but it looks as if it might be two or three years before a dangerous opponent is developed. That is too long to stand and wait."

"If I had fought again it would have been for Tex Rickard. I regard him as the foremost boxing promoter of all times. Realizing that another champion will follow me, I can think of no more capable hand than Rickard's in which to leave the selection of such a man, especially as he will necessarily be guided by the advice and assistance of another man to whom I owe more than I can express."

Tribute To Muldoon

"There could be no more fitting tribute than this for me to pay tribute to the untarnished honor, the wise counsel, the generous friendship and the lion heart of that grand old man of sport, William Muldoon."

"Under these circumstances it is my desire to place in the hands of Tex Rickard a belt or other suitable emblem of supremacy to be awarded by him to that boxer who through a series of elimination bouts or victories over the most formidable opponents that can be obtained, shall prove himself deserving of it."

"I have no thought of trying to nominate my successor. To the victor belong the spoils. I merely step aside and say, 'may the best man win.'"

The governor also is expected to have a talk with Raskob on some of the campaign issues with which he will deal extensively in the address he will deliver on August 22, in formally accepting the presidential nomination. He has let it be known that a considerable part of his speech will center around prohibition and farm relief.

The confidence expressed by Smith that he will carry the southern states, despite reported defections in the Democratic ranks, is based, it was learned today, on information furnished Chairman Raskob within the last few days by party leaders from south of the Mason-Dixon line.

Artificial Clouds To Catch Sun Rays, Ward Off Heat, Plan

Berlin, July 31.—Creation of artificial clouds over cities in the summer time to catch the sun's rays and ward off heat waves is proposed by Johannes Christian Bischoff, of Kiel, whose inventive genius was stimulated by the hot wave which has just swept over the republic.

A dispatch from Kiel today giving details, said that Bischoff suggests projecting the artificial clouds from balloons. The balloons would be anchored in a row along the edge of the city from which the wind is blowing.

There are hundreds of chemical combinations from which the clouds could be made, Bischoff says. He suggests, however, the use of hydrochloric acid and ammonia which are cheap and produce enormous quantities of smoke that would not easily combine with the air.

The inventor pointed out that false clouds would be invaluable in wartime to protect cities from air attacks. They would serve just as effectively as smoke screens as the clouds of smoke discharged from warcraft in naval engagements.

Butler-Perry Farm Bureau In Session

The Butler-Perry township farm bureau met Monday night at Willow Grove grange hall. The main feature of this meeting was a farm bureau moving picture which was put on by Stanley Howard, showing the many problems the farmer must meet and that the final question is one of organization.

Mrs. Sweeney gave two piano solos, Camille Moore and Ruby Walton played a banjo and piano duet. Cecil Bennett sang a solo accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Pearl Bennett and Clyde Bennett on the violin.

The next meeting is scheduled for September at which time the question of consolidated schools will be discussed. Storing and caring for vegetables and club achievements will be discussed.

never materialize or are delayed, he declared.

Thousands of construction workers have come to Washington in hope of getting work in the widely heralded $50,000,000 government building program, only to find that it may be years before construction begins.

In spite of a few pressing local employment problems, however, national employment situation is "fair," Stewart maintained. For the first few months of the year it grew steadily better and for the last two months has held about even. There is no reason to believe that it may become a serious problem in the near future, he declared.

The men: James O'Neil, 40, and John Caldwell, 20, both of Newport, are said by police to have confessed the robberies yesterday and to have said they were just starting on another tour of theft when apprehended.

Arrest Bandits In Robberies of Stores

Cincinnati, July 31.—The two bandits who terrorized grocers here yesterday with a series of five robberies within two hours time were arrested here today as they came from a downtown building where they had just made a payment on their automobile.

The men: James O'Neil, 40, and John Caldwell, 20, both of Newport, are said by police to have confessed the robberies yesterday and to have said they were just starting on another tour of theft when apprehended.

OHIO MAN WITH MISSING YACHT

Azara Week Over-due In Santander; May Be Lost At Sea, Is Fear

Santander, Spain, July 31.—Merchant ships, warcraft and seaplanes today continued the search for the American sailing yacht Azara, an entrant in the New York-Santander race which is overdue and missing.

Wireless stations on the coast broadcast an appeal to all ships to watch for the Azara.

Anxiety over the yacht and the fate of the crew is growing.

The Azara is owned in Detroit and carried an amateur crew when it sailed from New York on June 30.

Ohio Man On Schooner

Springfield, July 31.—Grave fears for the safety of E. E. Greiner, treasurer of the Buffalo-Springfield Roller Co., were held by the Springfield man's friends today over the non-appearance of the missing yacht "Azara" which left New York five weeks ago as a contestant in the race for the King Alfonso cup.

Greiner sailed as a guest on the tiny boat, which, sea-faring men say, should have made port at Santander a week ago.

Advices from Detroit stated that officials of the Detroit Yacht club, sponsoring the Azara's entry, are confident that the yacht will turn up safe in two or three days, the opinion being voiced that the Azara had not sailed into the Santander harbor simply because it is a much slower craft than the other entries.

Department Expanded

The department of commerce, under Hoover, expanded as never before in seeking foreign markets for American goods.

Testimony that the Hoovers, during their residence in London, never were really in British high society, because they insisted on too many "queer" guests—scientists and others who did not mix well.

A new statement by Hoover on the tariff also is being pointed to. In answering an editorial request he recited new commerce department figures to show that the American working man's purchasing power is far ahead of all other nations. Comparative figures for common laborers are: United States 259; United Kingdom, 160; Germany, 112; Italy, 110; Sweden, 162; France, 68; Belgium, 65.

Republican chieftains here ignored the result in the Texas primary, where the "Smith bolters" were defeated. Another prediction of a break in the solid south was made by Col. Henry W. Anderson, of Virginia.

Further encouraging reports came from Rep. Reed (R.) of New York, who predicted a Hoover victory in the state; A. E. Ruszkiewicz, editor of a Polish daily in Buffalo, N. Y., who said Hoover would get the Polish vote; Rep. Christopherson (R.) of South Dakota, who said that the farm defection was overrated and Rep. Campbell (R.) of Pennsylvania who renewed assurances of a Republican victory in the Keystone state.

Goes For Solitude

The nominee explained that he goes fishing to get solitude. He likes to catch fish, but that is only half the story.

"Nowadays the only time a man can find solitude, is when he goes fishing," he said. "A man can leave his friends, go off to a stream by himself and no one feels hurt, if he is going fishing. Fishing takes one away from the jazz of the cities."

"If the nominee should fail a third time his party probably will break camp late today and move on to another stream. Some of his friends have urged him to visit the Pitt river, within sight of Mount Shasta. Should he land a good catch here, however, the party will remain on the Klamath until tomorrow night, when Hoover will board a train at Hornbrook for San Francisco. Should he visit the Pitt river he will leave there tomorrow night in time to reach his home at Palo Alto Thursday morning.

Candidates' Wives Factor
In Presidential Campaign

Mrs. Alfred E. Smith (left) and Mrs. Herbert Hoover, who are rival aspirants for the position of mistress of the White House in about as real a sense as their husbands are rivals for the presidency.

By SHIRLEY KIRKE
International Illustrated News Staff Writer

WASHINGTON.—While Herbert Hoover hibernates in his beautiful Palo Alto, Cal., home, awaiting official notification of his selection as Republican standard bearer, and Governor Alfred E. Smith, the Democratic nominee, sticks to his knitting in the State House at Albany, a new—and curiously disturbing—factor has arisen to plague the political wisacres. Briefly, it is the discovery that the wives of the candidates are rival aspirants for the position of mistress of the White House in about as real a sense as their husbands are rivals for the presidency.

That is to say, lots of votes will be cast for Mr. Hoover, or for Governor Smith, in accordance with the voters' personal preference for Mrs. Hoover or Mrs. Smith, rather than in accordance with any particular preference as between the official nominees of the Republican and Democratic conventions.

You can hear Mrs. Hoover's and Mrs. Smith's personalities contrasted with one another as a definitely recognized campaign issue at any gathering of women. To "mere men" it seems a queer way of arriving at a conclusion concerning a candidate's fitness for the presidency; perhaps the gals consider their menfolk equally ridiculous in their adhesive-plaster relation to mere parties.

The fact that the charming wife of the Democratic nominee used to "do her own work" is both an asset and a liability to her husband's campaign. Many of the fair voters are outspoken in their praise for her as a helpmate and a candidate for mistress of the White House; others frown upon her culinary accomplishments. Likewise the cultured wife of Nominee Hoover. To many of her sisters, she is regarded as the ideal personality for mistress of the White House, and they speak with bated breath of her social triumphs abroad. Still others seem to resent the suggestion of "superiority," although it is never phrased in just that way.

Their menfolk are going about the campaign in the usual, business-like, orthodox style, attending meetings, framing speeches, raising funds. Build up the bankroll and get out the vote—these are the shibboleths of the campaign.

Women, though!—there's no accounting for them. I know—for I'm one of 'em.

EGYPT HONORS
MALE FOUNDER OF FEMINISTS

Cairo, July 31.—The man who founded the feminist movement in Egypt will have a monument erected to his memory, if the proposal made by his male followers is carried.

Twenty years ago in an age of darkness in the history of the Egyptian woman, Quasim Bey Amin the male pioneer of women's freedom, wrote a book demanding the liberation of women and giving her the right to a place in the sun.

His daring produced a storm of protest, but Quasim Bey had laid the foundations for the change in the status of the Egyptian women. Today she is beginning to take an active part in the social and political life of the country. Feminist clubs have been formed for the discussion of modern problems, charitable institutions are being run by women, and women are represented in all artistic and literary activities.

Opposition to the movement has not disappeared. Some newspapers have made the proposed commemoration an occasion for an attack on the leader of the feminist movement. At the same time the government is being blamed for being slow to recognize the importance of women in the welfare of the country and for failing to encourage the movement.

That this is a new era in the history of the Egyptian woman is admitted. Although votes for women may still be far off, they are beginning to breathe more freely now the thick black veil is becoming more transparent.

Shaw Says Holiday
Apart Would Help
Most Newlyweds

London, July 31.—"People in the early stages of married life should take their holidays apart," says George Bernard Shaw commenting on a clergyman's statement that a husband "needs the sunshine of a little change."

"In fact I think married people should get away from each other whenever they feel inclined. It saves so much friction."

"Married people, however, get out of the stage when they are too much of one another. Married life is not the same all through."

"After a time the partners do not feel that need for separation. When people have lived long enough together they do not want to take their vacations apart."

Mrs. Belloc Lowndes, the novelist, says: "I do not agree with the suggestion. Being old-fashioned, I think husband and wife should spend their holidays together. They ought to enjoy them that way.

"If they are not happy when at home, I do not see that it will help them merely to take their vacations apart."

LABOR COUNCIL MEETS TO PLAN ELECTION FIGHT

Majority of 12 Members Favor Herbert Hoover Private Poll Shows

ONLY FOUR TO SEEK SUPPORT FOR WINES

Wet Talk Much Quieter, Preliminary View Today at Atlantic City

Atlantic City, N. J., July 31.—Confronted with the most difficult political decision in its history the executive council of the American Federation of Labor met here today to formulate its recommendations for the presidential campaign.

A majority of the council of 12 favor Herbert Hoover, according to an individual poll of the membership today by International News Service.

But four members came to this seashore resort determined to champion the light wine and beer plank, repeatedly adopted by the federal convention every year since 1920, and to fight for an emphatic endorsement of the legislative labor record of Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York.

Submit Non-Partisan Report
The non-partisan political committee of the federation consisting of five members, all of whom attended both the Kansas City and Houston convention, submitted for its report a straight-forward narrative of its experience at the convention cities and a recital of the labor plank in each platform.

This report will be passed on to the membership of the federation, for its guidance in the election.

The report of the non-partisan committee was unanimously approved by President William Green, of the federation, Matthew Woll and Martin P. Ryan, vice-presidents; Frank Morrison, secretary, and James M. O'Connor, president of the metal trades division, one of the largest units in the federation.

Cite Hoover Strike Aid
Although the by-laws of the federation provide that in cases of non-partisan reports the committee shall cite to the membership only the legislative records of the respective candidates, the committee, in view of that fact that Herbert Hoover never served in an elective office, went beyond the letter of the rule to call attention to Hoover's activities in behalf of the organized railroad workers and miners in the historic shopmen and coal strike of 1922.

It also cited Hoover's advocacy of scientific management, elimination of waste in industry, standardization practices, accident prevention and, finally, the Republican administration record during the last four years in the restriction of immigration—a cardinal policy of organized American workers.

The tariff as a factor in the present high level of American wages, and the vital necessity of maintaining that standard, were cited in debate as additional Republican contributions to the welfare of labor.

Also Agreement On Wages
Hoover's public utterances upon the theory of wages that wages should increase with production, was also advanced by President Green as a point of agreement between the policies of the federation and the Republican party in the present campaign.

Frank Morrison, a protege and old-time companion of the late Samuel Gompers, carried the fight before the executive council against a formal endorsement of Governor Smith's attitude on prohibition, as expressed in his 11th-hour message to the Houston convention.

Bigger Raps Begg; To Support Turner

Columbus, July 31.—Bitterly assailing certain utilities companies and alleging they were interested in seeing either Myers Y. Cooper or James Begg elected governor, Matthew L. Bigger, a candidate for attorney general, today came out in support of Edward C. Turner of governor.

Certain utilities interests would "crucify" Turner in order that those great utilities may rule unmolested," Bigger said, at the same time acknowledging the antagonism which his stand for Turner might engender.

Bigger is a native of Tiffin, O., but has practiced law here for the last 25 years.

Boost Queen Marie For Rumanian Rule; May Oust Boy King

Berlin, July 31.—Little six-year-old Michael, the child king of Rumania, may lose his throne temporarily.

Private advices from Bucharest today said that leaders of the National Peasant party are advocating a plan to make Queen Marie, grandmother of Michael, either ruling queen or regent.

If Marie should become ruling queen, Michael would be proclaimed her successor. If she became regent, she would rule in the name of Michael.

Peasant leaders who formerly supported the return of Carol, have now turned against him on account of his conduct abroad.

BRENNAN DYING FROM POISONING

Noted Democratic Leader Of Illinois Undergoes Final Operation

Chicago, July 31.—George E. Brennan, Democratic committeeman for Illinois and close friend of Presidential Nominee Al Smith, today was reported near death from septic poisoning.

He was stricken last Thursday following the extraction of two ulcerated teeth. The poison spread to the glands of his throat. This condition became further complicated by diabetes and pneumonia, according to his physicians.

After a consultation of six prominent surgeons an emergency operation was performed last night to remove some of the poison gathered in the lymphatic gland.

Oxygen was being administered today to keep the stricken leader alive. Because of his age—63—physicians hold little hope for his recovery.

Last rites of the Catholic church were administered before the operation. Mr. Brennan remains conscious and realizes he is fighting death. Gathered at his bedside are his wife and only child, a daughter, Mary, and several friends, including former Mayor William E. Dever.

"WIFE SAVERS"
Thrilling situations of love, adventure and pathos are the main ingredients to the laugh producer, "Wife Savers" which features Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton and plays the last time tonight at the State.

Beery and Hatton are prominent in moments of love and pathos; they thrill in situations where they are seen in danger; yet each of these situations are gems of humor, though skirting the border of tragedy and classed as one of the Beery-Hatton combination's best.

Beery bakes the biscuits and climbs the mountains, in the garb of a Swiss yodeler, and the mother-in-law tries to induce him to share a boudoir with the bride he has wrongfully appropriated from Raymond Hatton, who is a second lieutenant in the same unit of the American army in which Beery is not only a buck private but a kitchen policeman as well.

At the beginning Beery is Hatton's head waiter in a Brooklyn restaurant. The fortunes of war took them both up on the France-Switzerland border just as the armistice is signed.

Hatton goes home and assigns Wally behind to look after his girl. Wally does by marrying her almost immediately, but the marriage is really no doing of his own.

In the end as usual, they both lose the girl to a younger and handsomer rival, but not before they have staged some spectacular chases over the snow-clad Alps, causing a couple of snowslides and landslides and a new set of international complications.

That is the featured cast in Warwick Deering's famous "Sorrell and Son," which is at the Grand, an amazing human story of the love of a father for his son and of son for father.

It is the story of a man deserted by his wife while he was fighting for his country, who fought in the pits of saloon life to remain to his young son the Capt. Sorrell, M. C. of prewar days the unutterable heart; ordeal Sorrell went through to keep his son from his ex-wife; his romance with Fanny Garland, whose smiling eyes, kind ways, patient attention and sympathy went deeper into the heart of the man than the brilliant fascination of Dora Sorrell ever went.

It is the story of a man in every sense of the word; his resistance to the lower temptations of life; how the moral example that he set sustained his young son when harassed by enticements; the victory he won for his son by helping him win the girl worth waiting for and proving to her that love was something based on a solid foundation; the victory he won for himself by winning happiness for his son.

Norman Trevor, Louis Wolheim, Lionel Belmore, Etienne Fairbanks, Paul McAllister, Betsy Ann Hiale, are included in the cast of the feature.

BANKER-FARMER MOVEMENT GROWS

Funds Supplied by Banking Organizations in Many States to Finance Studies and Contests.

The nationwide movement being conducted by county and state bankers' associations and the American Bankers Association in co-operation with the state agricultural colleges and county agents for the purpose of bringing about both local and national solutions for farm economic problems has shown notable results during the past year.

A review of these activities in the Bulletin of the Agricultural Commission, American Bankers Association, summarizes some of the chief points as follows:

In Missouri a meeting was held at the College of Agriculture at which the bankers again appropriated $1,600 for boys' and girls' club work. Saline county bankers have raised $500 to stimulate beef calf clubs and report definite results obtained in getting farmers to lime their soil and grow alfalfa. County "key bankers" to promote banker support of farm betterment projects are being appointed and another Short Course in Agriculture for bankers is being planned.

In Kansas no less than fifteen counties are reported by the Extension Service as engaged in definite banker-farmer work. County key bankers attended four district conferences during the year.

The Louisiana bankers' agricultural committee met at the College of Agriculture in connection with a bankers' farm course. The bankers are thoroughly aroused to the wisdom of tick eradication and are co-operating to that end. County key bankers are being selected and county meetings with bankers throughout the state will be arranged.

Results Shown
In Kentucky key bankers have been appointed in each county with the result that the bankers of the state are co-operating with the College of Agriculture more specifically than any other group of business men. Some of the fruits of this co-operation is demonstrated by the fact that the number of dairy cattle in the state has increased seven per cent and the production per cow twelve per cent. Three counties in the state have eliminated all scrub bulls.

In North Carolina the outstanding accomplishments have been the honoring of "Class A Farmers," that is, those attaining a degree of proficiency in a well balanced and sound system of farming as indicated by a score card prepared by the College of Agriculture and the Bankers Short Course given there. Future plans provide for the continuation of the county key banker system and the arrangements of county banker-farmer tours.

In Virginia $15,000 has been raised by subscription for boys' and girls' club work, largely from bankers. A group meeting was held at the College of Agriculture with two hundred bankers in attendance. The Committee on Agriculture of the State Bankers Association voted to continue and check up on the county key banker work.

The reports from New York on the activities for the past year included the distribution of 20,000 short form farm credit statements prepared co-operatively by the agricultural college and bankers. The bankers' agricultural committee also arranged to send suggestions to the banks of the state to aid in financing purchase of dairy cattle to replace those lost by the tuberculosis test.

Bankers' Farm Schools
Bankers' Farm Schools or "Short Courses" continued popular during the year. Several colleges held such courses under the auspices of the state bankers' agricultural committees and are repeating them this year.

"Minimum of Talk—Maximum of Demonstration" was the character of program put on by the Kansas Agricultural College for the second Bankers' Farm School in April. Four representatives were invited from each of twenty counties, consisting of the county key banker, the county agent, the secretary of the county bankers association and the president of the farm bureau.

Door Stops a Summer Necessity

Door stops are among summer needs when open windows and doors create many cross-currents and induce doors to slam. In olden days a carpet covered brick, a coral group or a conch shell answered the purpose. Sometimes a pot with a growing plant in it was used for special occasions.

Today stops are much more ambitious as evidenced by a wonderful brass peacock with fully spread tail outlined against the door, a wrought iron cat with a bushy tail and remarkably fascinating yellow eyes, and somber iron minute men doing their duty nobly.

The modern fancy for ships finds them in heavy brass models serving as stops. The Mayflower, old Constitution, Spanish galleons and modern torpedo boats, a bewildering choice for a boy's room or the den.

In the painted iron stops there are many delightful subjects. There is a little nurse holding a most lovable baby suitable for the nursery door, or a choice of Mother Goose characters in gay colors.

Baskets of flowers are always liked and they come in three sizes.

The wooden soldier of painted iron, is another favorite. He stands straight and stiff with his white trousers creased and his red sash tied in a perfect bow and loop. A brilliantly painted rooster is rather a newcomer, but he is a noble bird. There is also a good sized gray elephant with a red harness and blanket, a strong but peaceful figure doing his duty with no apparent effort.

Fairy book folk are all represented, recognized and desired by youngsters for their special door. With all these helpers there is no excuse for slamming doors, though the price for many of the more desirable stops is rather prohibitive.

STYLE EDICTS

Paris, July 31.—Many winter evening gowns will be of velvet say the French couturiers who are predicting a big "velvet season," and with all the lovely new printed ones coming out, as well as those in plain colors and in the new shades of blue, green and red, there is every indication that the prophecy will come true.

The new velvet itself seems softer and more lustrous than ever before and lends itself to most graceful draping. New printed velvets are following the lines of the printed crepes and georgettes of the summer season and are seen in tiny dots and speckles and little conventional designs rather than the slightly larger patterns which were in favor last winter season.

A beautiful evening ensemble is being shown in deep midnight-blue velvet with a full bodice at one side of the front of the coat which is trimmed in bands of chinchilla. It is worn over a frock of the same shade of velvet with speckles of silver.

Another material which was revived last winter and bids fair to hold its own for another season, is heavy old-fashioned satin used principally in the lighter shades like pale blue, pink and egg-shell white.

Taffeta-lane is a successful evening novelty. It is crisp and supple at the same time and lends itself to interesting draperies, due to the fact that its golden surface or its black one can be made to appear in turn.

Black evening frocks are sure to be worn during the coming winter for there is nothing which quite takes their place for informal wear. Point d'esprit is used a great deal and net with chenille dots used alone or combined with plain net or tulle. Winter dinner gowns of lace are made with long transparent sleeves, although often cut in very long V or U shape at the back of the bodice. One designer uses a frilled lace or net like the old-fashioned bretelles over the shoulders of a sleeveless black lace frock. A short lace jacket is often worn over these frocks for the cocktail hour of restaurant dinner.

Metamorphosis of Modes by Materials

Tailored Chiffon Dresses
The Latest of the Season's Concepts

By Marie Marot.

THIS year material does not make the mode. We find all successful materials of the season, used interchangeably in different styles, taking on the character of the styles in which they are used.

Chiffon, for instance, has had a triumph in the evening and fussy afternoon Summer modes. Whereupon it is not allowed to describe these modes alone, but is dragged off into alien styles by designers always on the quick for variety.

As a result chiffon is now being used in extremely tailored dresses that are cool and delightful for roasting Summer days. At the right this use of chiffon may be seen in a smart two-piece dress of the strictly sports variety—simple, pleated skirt over a crepe foundation, and trimly fitted, unadorned blouse.

The material is a soft flowered print on a blue background. A blue leghorn hat with a self-colored velvet trim accompanies it.

Leghorn, ballbunt, bacu and heavier weaves are more fashionable in the picture hat field than the transparent hats which have had such success in past seasons.

To the left is a sketch that illustrates a change of the character of material through its treatment. A heavy crepe, favorite for tailored Summer dresses, has been decked into a more elaborate style by the addition of feminine ruffles about a softly draped mouchoir, and a regulation sports blouse edge.

An even more feminine touch is the sleeve ruffling which falls delicately over the wrist.

TR HANDS OF APE IN HOET TO GIVE HIM SOUL

Psychologist Works Out Scheme for Animal's Higher Learning

Los Angeles, Cal., July 31.—Preposterous as it may appear, science is about to provide a soul for the ape!

At least, such is the representation of Jack Borlase, psychologist, based on startling experiments conducted on his own brain.

"Why dig for the 'missing link' when it can be produced?" asks this scientist, now here in quest of support for his ape-soul project.

The Borlase theory seems almost an affront to the lay intelligence, so revolutionary it is in conception, startling in potentialities, and without a simple.

Ambidexterity is the secret that has baffled hal science since the Darwin evolutionary treatise was given the world.

"It is a well known physiological fact," says Borlase, "that nerve controls of the right side center in the brain's left lobe. My contention goes further and holds that the greater physical development of this hemisphere is directly a result of almost universal right handedness."

If this premise be tenable, it logically must follow that thought originates in this lobe and that a transference of mental activity to the right hemisphere, with a consequent doubleminded range, can be secured by the simple expedient of cultivating left handedness."

Satisfied beyond question that his ten years of experiment have proved this in his own case, Borlase claims he can shift his mental processes at will from one lobe to the other and after laboring ten hours with one cylinder, as it were, can toil with another like period with the second while the first is resting—a 100 per cent utilization of the potential power of the brain.

To attain left handed facility and deftness, Borlase turned to left-handed, or so-called "mirror" writing, mathematical calculations and reading.

This brought about the discovery of left brain vision, as differentiated from right-brain vision. It is a principle of optics that images are received on the brain upside down and must be inverted for proper vision.

"Physically, there is little disparity between man and the anthropoid," he says. "Brain areas and structure are almost identical. But man has developed such a soul through use of the arms and hands, while the ape, who only recently has walked erect and begun to use his arms, has not."

"Now then, if we take an ape and by a rigorous system of calisthenics develop each arm in turn to an ambidextrous deftness equal to man's, we should, by the corresponding development of both brain hemispheres, so quicken the processes of evolution in the animal that he would within several generations instead of centuries and eons, as in man, develop the faculty of speech, conscious thought, and the power of reason, whose sum is called the soul."

Mechanical Devices

In this training of the ape, Borlase would use innumerable mechanical devices to develop arm and hand facility. Any number of them already are outlined in his mind.

"For, in every stage of evolution from the original seawater, it has been marked that physical advancement always has preceded a higher order of intelligence," he said.

In conclusion, Borlase has this to say in refutation of the inevitable cry of blasphemy which he anticipates:

"Of course only that omnipotent force that created the universe can really provide the ape with a soul. It is already there, latent. Like the seed of life itself.

"And if, by endowing the ape with mental processes, we can provide the animal with immortality, is there any Christian who would arise to begrudge the ape a soul?"
